MAROONED

After being shipwrecked on a deserted island for weeks, the marooned pirate was starving.. One day, he saw a large shark circling the island. Desperate, he shouted, "Ahoy, shark!"

To his surprise, the shark swam closer.

The pirate cautiously approached the water. "How about a deal? You bring me fish everyday and I'll tell you all about life on land..."

Since there were no other sharks nearby, the big shark readily agreed.

Every day thereafter the shark delivered fresh fish, leaving them neatly on the shore. The unlikely pair struck up an unusual friendship—the shark brought fish and then, for endless hour upon endless hour, each and every day, the pirate recounted details of his life above water to the shark.

This went on for months, until the pirate was rescued by a passing ship. Saddened to part ways, the man said, "You've become more of a friend than a fish. Will you be okay without me?"

The shark replied, "I'LL BE FINE!"

Relieved, the pirate reluctantly waved goodbye.

But, as the shark swam off into the blue water, it was heard to mutter, "Man, I thought that guy would never shut up!"

Your mind will reel when you see the fun, quirky, one-of-a-kind preloved pieces we've curated just for you!

Moments in time THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On May 13, 1846, in response to a request by President James Polk, the U.S. Congress declared war on Mexico. The conflict, which ended two years later with the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, eventually cost the lives of 11,300 American soldiers and resulted in the annexation of lands that became parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, California, Utah and Colorado.

* On May 12, 1896, New York City passed America's first anti-spitting law in an effort to combat tuberculosis, imposing fines and even jail time on unruly protesters who demonstrated their discontent by expectorating on anti-spitting signs. By 1910, more than 2,500 arrests had been made.

* On May 14, 1998, legendary crooner, actor and show business icon Frank Sinatra died of a heart attack in Los Angeles at the age of 82. A heartthrob who married four times and divorced three, Sinatra's career spanned more than five decades, including a notable comeback in the 1950s.

* On May 16, 1975, Junko Tabei of Japan became the first woman to summit Mount Everest. She later gained further fame as the first woman to scale all Seven Summits, the tallest mountains on each continent.

* On May 15, 1948, 3-year-old June Devaney of Blackburn, England, was abducted from the hospital where she was recuperating from pneumonia. After her body was found two hours later, the detective inspector assigned to the case ordered the fingerprinting of the more than 40,000 men residing in Blackburn, which took nearly three months but eventually led to the killer, who was convicted and executed later that year.

* On May 17, 2000, the final episode of "Beverly Hills, 90210" aired after 10 seasons.

* On May 18, 2012, Facebook held its initial public offering (IPO) and raised $16 billion. It was the largest technology IPO in American history at the time and third-largest IPO in the United States, after those of Visa and General Motors. When it went public, the social network was valued at $104 billion and boasted some 900 million registered users around the world.

FLOWER POWER

Two old ladies were sitting on a park bench outside a flower show. One said, "Life is so boring. For $10, I'd streak through that flower show!"

Her friend handed her $10, and off she went. She came back to applause and said, "I won first prize for 'Best Dried Arrangement'!"

THE FARMER'S WISDOM

A farmer was asked, "What's the secret to your success?"

He replied, "I wake up early, work hard, and have a lot of patience."

The interviewer asked, "Anything else?"

The farmer smiled and said, "Oh, and I talk to my chickens."

Confused, the interviewer asked, "Do they talk back?"

The farmer chuckled, "No, but they listen better than my kids!"

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Two elderly ladies were sitting on a park bench when a pigeon landed nearby. One said, "Look at that bird strutting around like it owns the place."

The other replied, "Well, we're kinda sitting in its living room!"

A LESSON LEARNED

A politician visiting a school asked the kids what they wanted to be when they grew up. One child said, "Honest."

The politician sighed, "Oh, so you're not into politics?"

THE FIX IS IN

A politician visited a farm and asked the farmer, "What's your biggest problem?"

The farmer replied, "Cows won't give milk."

The politician said, "I'll fix that!"

The farmer asked, "How?"

The politician said, "I'll pass a law requiring them to!"

THE HONEST CANDIDATE

During a debate, a candidate was asked, "What will you do about unemployment?"

She replied, "I'll create jobs for everyone!"

When asked, "How?"

The candidate said, "By hiring people who can figure it out!"

VETERANS ★ POST ★

by Freddy Groves

FAKE DEPLOYMENTS AND FREE PLANE RIDES

It takes an especially devious mind to come up with some of this stuff. We have to wonder what staff at the Veterans Affairs Office of Inspector General (VAOIG) think when they're investigating certain crimes. They probably aren't smiling.

For example, this one: A veteran managed to grab 130 free airline flights while pretending he was on active duty and being sent on military assignments. The guy was an airline baggage handler, but only for one week. Then he showed his airline employer a fistful of fake military documents that said he needed eight months off for deployment.

During that time he jetted around the globe using the free flights benefit of employees, hitting all the hot-spot tourist destinations, from the Caribbean, to South America, to Europe and all points in between -- and documented the trips online. At the end of that period, he gave the airline more fake military documents and managed to extend the whole scam for another two years.

Meanwhile, while still employed by the airline and pretending he was entitled to free unlimited flights, he snagged a job as a federal air marshal.

Also, meanwhile, he took a job at a sporting goods retailer and pulled the same "I have to go do my military service" scam, likely so he could get the store discount.

It didn't help that the fake military orders he created were allegedly signed by someone who didn't exist.

The scammer's undoing began in part because he wanted to take his federal air marshal weapon with him on the plane and there was confusion about why an airline employee baggage handler, which he still claimed to be, would be carrying an air marshal weapon while on personal travel and while he was supposedly still in the military.

Once investigators started digging into it, they unearthed a jaw-dropping 130 flights the scammer had taken.

I hope he enjoyed his vacations in the sun, because he could be looking at 20 years in the slammer.
