Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Aug. 4, 2012, in London, Oscar Pistorius of South Africa became the first amputee to compete at the Olympic Games. He finished second out of five runners in the opening heat and went on to the semifinals, where he finished eighth out of eight runners.

* On Aug. 5, 1951, 38-year-old Canadian daredevil William "Red" Hill Jr. attempted to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel made of 13 rubber innertubes, canvas webbing and fish netting that he dubbed "the Thing." It broke apart under the high water pressure two hours after he set out, but his badly injured body was not recovered until the next morning.

* On Aug. 6, 1975, The New York Times printed a front-page obituary for Agatha Christie's Belgian sleuth Hercule Poirot -- quite the honor for a fictional character! Christie had announced her decision to dispose of him in her next book; indeed, as the Times noted, "The news of his death, given by Dame Agatha, was not unexpected. Word that he was near death reached here last May."

"It's not so bad. ... I've invaded worse homes than this!"

THOSE WHO CONSIDER THEMSELVES RELIGIOUS AND YET DO NOT REIN IN THEIR TONGUES DECEIVE THEMSELVES

* On Aug. 7, 1967, the U.S. Congress overwhelmingly approved the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, giving President Lyndon B. Johnson nearly unlimited power to oppose "communist aggression" in Southeast Asia and marking the beginning of America's expanded military role in the battlefields of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

* On Aug. 8, 1942, six German saboteurs who'd secretly entered the United States on a mission to attack its civil infrastructure were executed by electric chair for spying. Two others who notified the FBI of the plot and aided authorities in their manhunt for the collaborators were imprisoned but freed six years later on President Harry Truman's orders, and returned to Germany.

* On Aug. 9, 1995, legendary Grateful Dead guitarist Jerry Garcia died of a heart attack in a California residential drug-treatment facility at age 53.

* On Aug. 10, 1927, President Calvin Coolidge arrived in South Dakota on horseback wearing a cowboy hat to dedicate Mount Rushmore two months before its carving began and presented sculptor Gutzon Borglum with a set of steel drill bits.

Apache Junction Chamber of Commerce "2011 Small Business of the Year Award Winner"

Here's our Part 3 of Powerful AI at everyday prices: A look at the tools changing how we work, create, and think.

Notion AI, $8/member/month

Notion's AI add-on empowers users to summarize notes, generate content, translate text, and query workspace data. It integrates seamlessly with existing plans and costs $8/member/month, in addition to the base Notion subscription.

OpenAI Operator – (Included in ChatGPT Pro), $20/month

Released in Beta in February 2025, Operator is an experimental AI agent that performs tasks in your browser—booking appointments, filling forms, ordering groceries—without needing plugins or manual input. This brings fully automated agents to the mainstream, transforming passive chatbots into active digital helpers.

Kruti (by Ola Krutrim) – Free/Tiered

India's first multilingual AI assistant

Make Money On Purpose

"Trending AI Services, Part 3" with Mike Lamb

supports 13 (soon 22) languages and handles everyday tasks—ordering food, paying bills, booking rides.

GlamAI, No cost yet

Virtual Try-On for Fashion Lovers
GlamAI lets users upload their photos to virtually try on clothes, makeup, hairstyles in real time—offering a digital dressing room.

Lumio AI, Early version free

Multi-LLM Workspace
Lumio AI aggregates leading models (ChatGPT, Gemini, Claude, Grok, Perplexity) into one interface.

PromptCanvas, Early version free

Visual Prompting for Writers
A research-backed tool that uses a canvas-style UI to let writers build text with interactive prompt-widgets. Adds structure, creativity, and iteration control to AI writing—proven to reduce load and boost creative output.

Why It's Smart to Learn AI Tools

Learning to use AI tools is one of the smartest moves you can make right now, both professionally and personally.

1. Boost Productivity & Save Time

AI can automate repetitive tasks like writing emails, creating content, managing calendars, summarizing documents, and even coding. This frees up hours each week and helps you get more done with less effort.

2. Stay Competitive in the Job Market

As AI becomes part of everyday workflows, employers increasingly value people who can use AI tools effectively. Knowing tools like ChatGPT, Notion AI, or Midjourney can make your resume stand out and future-proof your career.

CHARMING

Two affluent women were conversing on the porch of a large white-pillared mansion. The first woman, said "When my first child was born, my husband built this beautiful mansion for me."

The second lady commented, "Well,... isn't that nice??"

The first woman continued, "When my second child was born, my husband bought me a new car."

Again, the other lady commented, "Well,... isn't that nice??"

The first woman boasted, "Then, when my third child was born, my husband bought me a diamond bracelet."

Yet again, the second lady commented, "Well,... isn't that nice??"

The first woman then asked her companion, "What did your husband buy for you when you had your first child?"

The second lady replied "My husband sent me to charm school."

"Charm school!", the first woman cried, "Land sakes, child, what on Earth for?"

The second lady responded, "I learned that instead of saying 'who cares', I learned to say, 'Well,... isn't that nice?'"

Fun Fact

In the early 1900s, female swimmers covered up completely at the beach. But by 1915, American women were wearing one-piece maillots to go swimming. A "two-piece" (a halter top with a bottom covering the navel, hips, and derriere) arrived in the '40s, worn by film stars and seen on American beaches. By the '60s, the bikini put more skin on display than ever.

SAME 'OL, SAME 'OL'

A man was left at home, to take care of the children, while his wife went to the store. The telephone rang. On his way to answer it, he tripped over the dog. The dog started to bark loudly and run wildly around the room. The man grabbed the throw rug, pulling the end table with the phone over.

Unfortunately the dog bumped into the moving table and knocked it onto the back of the man's outstretched hand, causing a few choice words. All this barking, crashing furniture and swearing woke up the baby, who started to cry.

The couple's four year old son entered the room and assumed that the dog had gone mad and had attacked his father. He started to scream loudly.

In the midst of all the mayhem, the man managed to grab the receiver. He put the phone up to his ear just in time to hear his wife say,

"Nobody's said hello yet, but it certainly sounds like I have the right number."

A BIG THUMBS-UP TO THE VAOIG

A recent report says that during this year's multi-agency health care fraud takedown, they've nailed 324 criminals to the tune of $14.6 billion. That's "billion" with a "b." And that dollar amount is over double what they've seized before. This time they also seized cars and cryptocurrency. They stopped $4 billion in fraudulent claims payments. They stopped millions from going overseas to foreign banks. And those weren't just street-thug-level criminals they nabbed. These were bigger guys, including 96 doctors, pharmacists, nurses and other medical professionals. Scammers included foreigners sent here to pull off schemes that used stolen identities of Americans.

Working with several other agencies, all the way from federal level (including the IRS, Homeland Security, the Department of Labor and more) down to local law enforcement, the OIG has brought charges to keep thieves from stealing money from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Here are a few examples of the lowlifes they corralled.

One group was shipping out medical equipment that wasn't really necessary and then billing for it. Working with a marketing company, they pressured recipients to receive and keep the equipment, even if it wasn't needed. Scammers even pressured doctors to sign the orders by repeatedly faxing them documents claiming that the patient had specifically requested the equipment. Eventually the doctor would sign the forms. This scam was good for a cool $39 million.

And there was the wound care scam -- where wound patches were applied to vulnerable patients who should not have had them -- that netted $600 million.

Then there was the massage therapist who billed over $2 million for services never rendered. For example, they billed for aquatic therapy when they had no pool, for wheelchair therapy for veterans not in a wheelchair and for pacemaker monitoring for veterans who did not have a pacemaker.

Once again I'm hoping the VA's Office of Inspector General has seen their operating budget increased so they can do even more of what they've been doing.
