WORKING LIKE A DOG

Four men, an Engineer, an Accountant, a Chemist and an Office Worker were bragging about how smart their dogs were.

To show off, the Engineer called to his dog and said,

"T-Square, do your stuff." T-square trotted over to a desk, took out some paper and a pen and promptly drew a circle, a square and a triangle. Everyone agreed that was pretty smart.

The Accountant called his dog and said, "Slide Rule, do your stuff."

Slide Rule went out into the kitchen and returned with a dozen cookies. He divided them into 4 equal piles of 3 cookies each. Everyone agreed that was good.

But the Chemist said his dog could do better. He called his dog and said, "Measure, do your stuff." Measure got up, walked over to the fridge, took out a quart of milk, got a 10 ounce glass from the cupboard and poured exactly 8 ounces without spilling a drop. Everyone agreed that was good.

Then the three men turned to the Office worker and said, "What can your dog do?"

The Office worker called to his dog and said, "Coffee Break, do your stuff." Coffee Break jumped to his feet, ate the cookies, drank the milk, read the paper, gossiped about the other three dogs, claimed he injured his back while doing so, filed a grievance report for unsafe working conditions, put in for Worker's Compensation and went home on sick leave.

Now accepting new clients!

ONE GOOD THING ABOUT ARIZONA. IT'S USUALLY TOO HOT FOR ANYONE TO BE WAITING IN MY BACKSEAT TO KILL ME

THERE IS REST FOR GOD'S PEOPLE

WEIRD WONDERS

Cawker City, Kansas is home to the World's Largest Ball of Twine. This giant sphere of twine weighs over 20,000 pounds and continues to grow as visitors are invited to add their own strands.

Mecca, California is home to the International Banana Museum. Dedicated entirely to bananas, this museum holds the world's largest collection of banana-related items. From banana-shaped telephones to yellow décor galore.

Beneath a bridge in Seattle lurks a massive troll clutching a real Volkswagen Beetle. Created by local artists, the sculpture has become one of the city's quirkiest landmarks. Its size and location make it feel like something out of a fairytale

Sarah Winchester, heiress to the Winchester rifle fortune, built a sprawling mansion that defies architectural logic. Stairs lead to nowhere, doors open into walls, and hidden rooms abound. Legend says the house was designed to confuse restless spirits.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Nov. 24, 1947, the House of Representatives voted 346 to 17 to approve citations of contempt against 10 Hollywood writers, directors and producers who'd refused to cooperate at hearings dealing with communism in the movie industry held by the House Un-American Activities Committee. The men were sentenced to one year in jail.

* On Nov. 25, 2000, after passing a resolution earlier in the year, the United Nations General Assembly recognized the first International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women. The resolution marked the anniversary of the death of three sisters -- Patria, Minerva and Maria Teresa Mirabal -- who were murdered in the Dominican Republic in 1960.

* On Nov. 29, 2004, Japanese movie monster Godzilla, a mutant born of nuclear radiation fallout, got a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame -- quite a present on his 50th birthday.

HOLY SCRIPTURE IS A REFLECTION OF WHAT GOD WANTS US TO KNOW

* On Nov. 26, 1968, Air Force 1st Lt. James P. Fleming and four other Bell UH-1F helicopter pilots received an urgent message from an Army Special Forces team pinned down by enemy fire. While the first rescue effort failed, Fleming, accompanied by a second pilot, managed to land and pick up the team before discovering upon return to his base that he was nearly out of fuel. He was eventually awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions.

* On Nov. 27, 2015, Pope Francis released a progressive-rock album titled "Pope Francis: Wake Up!" featuring excerpts of the pontiff sermonizing on subjects including peace, the environment and family, and hymns rearranged with guitar and synthesizer.

* On Nov. 30, 1965, attorney Ralph Nader published "Unsafe at Any Speed: The Designed-in Dangers of the American Automobile." An immediate best-seller, it also launched the passage of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966, seatbelt laws in 49 states and other road-safety initiatives.

It's almost the end of the year and time for your digital cleanup. The decluttering project almost everyone forgets—until their phone storage is full, their inbox is chaos, and every login feels like a scavenger hunt. The end of the year is the perfect checkpoint to clean things up so you can start fresh.

Begin with your inbox. Search for newsletters you never read, receipts you don't need, and notifications from apps you no longer use. Unsubscribe from anything that doesn't serve you anymore, then bulk delete old promos and updates. Create a few simple folders like Bills, Personal, and Work so important messages have a clear home going forward.

reminder to back them up to an external drive or a reputable cloud service.

Then, review your apps and accounts. Remove apps you haven't opened in months. Turn off notifications that constantly interrupt you. While you're at it, update important passwords and enable two-factor authentication on key accounts like email, banking, and cloud storage.

Finally, clean up your digital "visual noise." Organize your desktop, clear old tabs and bookmarks you'll never visit again, and simplify your home screen so your most-used tools are front and center.

Digital clutter quietly drains time and focus. A few focused hours of cleanup before the end of the year can make your devices feel new again, protect your information, and give you a calmer, more organized start to the year ahead.

If you don't declutter, there are risks.

Slower Devices & Reduced Productivity compounding into lost time and lower productivity.

Increased Security Risks - Neglect makes you more susceptible to data breaches, phishing, and identity theft.

Higher Stress & Mental Overload Digital mess is mental mess. A chaotic inbox, a crowded desktop, or a phone full of notifications adds invisible stress to your day making it harder to find what you need, make decisions, and stay focused.

Over time, even simple tasks feel harder than they should. So, declutter and make your life easier

CREWEL EMBROIDERY - Some antique arts fade in popularity but are never truly lost. Embroidery is one of them. There are surviving examples of embroidered fabric that date back thousands of years. By comparison, the embroidery of 17th and 18th-century Europe and Colonial America seems much more modern. This was the heyday of the craft. It had grown increasingly accessible to amateurs and was established as an important part of women's education. Queen Mary II, who co-ruled England with her husband William III from 1689 to 1694, was known for the crewel embroidery practiced at her court. "Crewel" is a broad term for embroidery made with wool thread. Many types of stitches are used and designs often have images like flowers and animals in vibrant colors and thick textures. The furniture and decoration style known as William and Mary came to the American colonies a little later than the monarchs' reign in England; the American William and Mary period is generally considered to have lasted from about 1690 to 1720. This, of course, included embroidery. William and Mary furniture experienced a revival around the 1930s. This vintage mirror, which sold for $600 at Leland Little Auctions, was made about that time. Its frame features crewel embroidery in the style of the 17th to 18th century, with traditional plants and animals as well as a couple in period costumes.

Q: I am closing an old country store. All the decor was made up of old antiques. I have two "wooden molds for barrels or baskets" and would like to know if they are worth anything.

A: The "country store" look is a popular decorating style. Molds for baskets or barrels may interest collectors of antique tools, or a collector may want to display them as folk art. Some basket molds can sell for high prices. Earlier this year, a signed Shaker basket mold, 9 inches in diameter and 23 inches tall including its maple handle, sold at auction for more than $500. Basket makers' tools without a known maker, date and origin sell for lower prices. Smaller, unsigned basket molds can sell for less than $50. We recommend contacting an auction house that specializes in Americana, country antiques or folk art.

TIP: If a thread in a woven fabric, carpet or sweater pulls or tears, do not cut it. Get a crochet hook or large pin and weave the thread into the fabric.

CURRENT PRICES - Doll, Mattel, Barbie, Happy Holidays, Special Edition, blond, long hair, red dress, silver sash, box, 1988, 11 inches, $110. Music, accordion, Venice, Bakelite, black, three buttons, faux mother-of-pearl keys, strap, case, Italy, mid-1900s, 7 1/2 x 15 inches, $260. Furniture, chest, campaign, camphorwood, two parts, drop-down desk between two drawers over three long drawers, turnip feet, 1800s, 42 1/2 inches, $1,750.

VETERANS

★ POST ★

by Freddy Groves

DON'T BELIEVE EVERY RUMOR

The numbers are small -- only 100 or so veterans come down with it every year -- but this cancer is especially deadly: male breast cancer. Beginning in 2024 it was added as a presumptive on the VA's list of illnesses that were automatically covered, courtesy of the PACT Act, due to toxin exposure.

And now it's been yanked off that list, per a couple of internet websites and street rumors that are flying fast and furious.

Word is that any veteran with a diagnosis of male breast cancer is going to have to scramble and fight to get the VA to accept that it was caused by exposure to toxins and provide treatment.

Except ... is it really true, that it's been deleted from the list? Apparently not.

People were asleep at the switch when male breast cancer was classified as a "reproductive" cancer when it was first added to the PACT list of presumptives. That kind of error left the door open to deleting it from the list of presumptives -- just when it's needed most. Historically, only 1% of breast cancers have been in male patients, but in recent years that number has doubled.

So no, it's not true. Male breast cancer is still on the list of presumptives. Only the category of the illness has changed, moving it away from considering it a "reproductive organ," which it is not.

And yes, I have a special interest in this topic. Several years ago a close relative died of male breast cancer. He'd been a Marine, a forward radio operator, in Vietnam where he was sprayed too many times with Agent Orange. When he came back he was stationed at Camp Lejeune with its contaminated water. A double whammy if there ever was one.

If you need to apply for VA health coverage, go online to www.va.gov and click on "Health Care." Look for VA Form 10-10EZ. If you need help getting started, call the health benefits hotline at 877-222-8387.
