WHAT MOVIES TEACH US

* All bombs are fitted with electronic timing devices, which have large red read-outs to tell you exactly when it will go off.

* All apartments in Paris overlook the Eiffel tower.

* Should you need to pass yourself off as a German officer it will not be necessary to speak the language, a convincing accent will do.

* Most lap top computers are powerful enough to override a bank security system or the communication system of an invading alien civilization.

* 1 man shooting at 20 men has more chance of hitting them than 20 men shooting at 1 man...if he is the hero.

* During a police investigation it will be necessary to visit a strip joint at least once.

* Large studio-type apartments in big cities are affordable by single people with a low wage.

* It doesn't matter if you are heavily outnumbered in a martial arts fight; your enemies will attack you one at a time while the others dance around you menacingly.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On June 16, 1858, newly nominated senatorial candidate Abraham Lincoln told more than 1,000 delegates at the Illinois Republican Convention in Springfield that the nation was facing a crisis that could destroy the Union, paraphrasing a New Testament passage when he warned that "a house divided against itself cannot stand."

* On June 17, 1976, the National Basketball Association announced a merger with its rival, the American Basketball Association, and took on the ABA's four most successful franchises: the Denver Nuggets, the Indiana Pacers, the New York (later Brooklyn) Nets and the San Antonio Spurs.

* On June 18, 1178, five badly frightened monks in Canterbury, England, witnessed an explosion on the moon's surface after the sun had set. As their abbey's chronicler described it, "A flaming torch sprang up, spewing out ... fire, hot coals and sparks." The moon, he marveled, "throbbed like a wounded snake."

THE LORD YOUR GOD IS GOD IN HEAVEN ABOVE AND ON THE EARTH BELOW - JOSHUA 2:11

* On June 19, 2014, two weeks after he abdicated the Spanish throne amidst low approval ratings, King Juan Carlos I removed his red sash, symbolic of his status as the leader of the Spanish military, and draped it around the waist of his son, 46-year-old Crown Prince Felipe, completing his official transfer of power.

* On June 20, 1981, four Dutch studio musicians recording under the name Stars on 45, who sounded uncannily like the Beatles, made it to the top of the U.S. pop charts with their single titled "Medley: Intro Venus/Sugar Sugar/No Reply/I'll Be Back/Drive My Car/Do You Want To Know A Secret/We Can Work It Out/I Should Have Known Better/Nowhere Man/You're Going To Lose That Girl/Stars On 45."

* On June 21, 1913, aviatrix Georgia "Tiny" Broadwick, who stood just four feet, eight inches tall and weighed 80 pounds, became the first woman to parachute from a plane. On the way up, she was suspended from a trap seat outside the cockpit, with her parachute on a shelf above her.

* On June 22, 1953, a Brooklyn newsboy received an unusual nickel in payment. Upon dropping it on the ground he discovered it was hollow and contained a tiny photo of coded numbers. His discovery led the FBI to a Soviet spy named Rudolf Abel.

It's one my most favorite things to talk about. Automatic Income.

Often called Referral Income or Affiliate Income. It's money paid to you for telling others and referring various products or services.

You act like a promoter and get paid when you put forth the effort. When a person or business makes a purchase through your referral link, you get paid.

Most of the time these payments come to you in the form of digital currency such as PayPal or dumped directly into your bank account. Some companies are even starting to pay with crypto. I have not yet taken any crypto payments, but I'm still young. :-)

There's nothing better than opening up your email or bank app and seeing new money pouring in. For referral affiliates, this happens multiple times a month.

I'm on a quest to help countless people experience the thrill of getting those monthly commission payments.

Make Money On Purpose

"Recurring Income Revisited" with Mike Lamb

That's why I created the Moneyroom Portal. It's not just a website, it's a hub for creating automatic referral income for anyone.

We identified & vetted 15 high-paying online business services that are not only growing rapidly, but also paying referral partners really well.

When you add our affiliate program, that's 16 sources of automatic income all in one place to promote.

Each Moneyroom Portal owner also receives access to training and a cool community of people helping each other.

Imagine have 16 new sources of fully automated recurring income bringing you monthly and annual commission payments like clockwork.

You can see everything you get with yours at MoneyroomPortal.com

Our long term mission is to activate 50,000 of these income-producing web portals. With an annual commission of $300 that means we have to potential to pay out $15,000,000 in referral commissions every year, and for years to come.

You can easily consider this found money. Do you know anyone that might be interested in having a chunk of that revenue?

The portal is designed to educate visitors on the virtues and benefits of working from home and being independent. Earning you monthly recurring income in the process.

Got questions? Drop me an email at moneyroomuniverse@gmail.com or call 480-349-7842. Looking forward to helping as many people as possible.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

A man worked for many years at a large business, but hated his job. What he really wanted was to go into business for himself.

He saved his money and finally had enough that he could quit and start his own business.

Two years goes by and a friend of his was going through the town where the man's business was located and decided to stop by for a visit.

"Hey, I heard that the first year is the hardest for a new business." his friend said.

"Yeah," the man replied, "the first year was rough, but I'm doing pretty good now. In fact, I'm getting to where I only have to work half a day."

"Wow, that's sweet. Maybe I should think about going into business for myself."

"Yeah, and the nicest part of it is that it doesn't matter which twelve hours you work."

Meet Your New Meal Prep Hero: The Southwestern Black Bean & Corn Salad

If you're looking for a meal prep wonder that works as hard as you do, this Southwestern Black Bean & Corn Salad is here to save the day!

Made with pantry-friendly ingredients, this colorful salad keeps beautifully in the fridge for up to five days and offers endless ways to enjoy it. Whether you're adding it to a bed of mixed greens, tossing it into quesadillas or serving it as a hearty taco or wrap filling, it's a versatile addition to your meal rotation.

It also makes a delicious topping for baked or sweet potatoes and pairs perfectly with grilled chicken or fish for a light, refreshing side. With so many options, this salad is your secret weapon, and it's easily doubled or tripled to ensure stress-free, flavorful meals all week long.

SOUTHWESTERN BLACK BEAN & CORN SALAD

Yield: 4 servings

Total Time: 15 minutes

For the Dressing:

2 tablespoons olive oil

Juice and zest of one lime

1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar

1/2 teaspoon brown sugar

1/2 teaspoon chili powder

1/4 teaspoon cumin

1/4 teaspoon Dijon mustard

1/4 teaspoon table salt

For the Salad:

1 (15 ounce) can black beans, drained and rinsed

1 cup frozen corn, thawed

1/2 cup red onion, diced

1/2 cup red pepper, diced

1/2 cup fresh cilantro, chopped

In the bottom of a salad bowl, whisk together all dressing ingredients to emulsify. Add the salad ingredients, tossing to combine. This gets better as it sits, so I recommend refrigerating this at least two hours before serving.

This salad is delicious when made into hearty quesadillas. They are a great choice for a quick weeknight dinner or a delicious snack. The combination of black beans, sweet corn and melty cheese wrapped in a crispy tortilla is the perfect comfort food.

SOUTHWESTERN BLACK BEAN & CORN QUESADILLAS

Yield: 4 servings

Total Time: 15 minutes

1 recipe black bean and corn salad

2 cups shredded Mexican blend, or cheddar cheese

8 (8-inch) flour tortillas

Cooking spray or oil and/or butter, as needed

Preheat a skillet over low heat and coat with cooking spray or melt a mix of 2 teaspoons each of olive oil and butter. The blend of oil and butter gives the quesadillas a rich, golden crisp that makes them extra satisfying.

Stir the shredded cheese into the black bean and corn mixture so you get that perfect gooey filling with each bite of quesadilla.

Increase the heat to medium and cook each quesadilla one at a time until golden brown and crispy, and the cheese is fully melted. You want the tortillas to have that satisfying crunch, with just the right amount of crispiness.

Place one tortilla in the skillet at a time. Place 1/2 cup of the bean and cheese mixture over the tortilla and spread it evenly to the edges. Once the cheese has melted, fold this tortilla in half, making a half-moon shape, pressing down gently to help seal. Repeat with the remaining tortillas and bean mixture adding butter and oil as needed.

Slice into triangles and serve immediately. These quesadillas are fantastic on their own, but feel free to serve them with your favorite dipping sauce, like salsa, sour cream or guacamole.

Whether you're meal prepping for the week or looking for a quick, satisfying meal, this Southwestern Black Bean & Corn Salad is a game-changer. So go ahead, whip up a batch and enjoy stress-free, healthy meals all week long!

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Matilda Charles

OUTWITTING THE SCAMMERS

My phone number appears to have gotten on another list somewhere, and the potential scammers are coming out of the woodwork -- again. I have my suspicions about where they could have found my number this time, but I can't prove it, of course. All I can do is keep fending them off ... by not answering the phone if I don't recognize the number or hanging up quickly if I've answered and realize it's a scam. After a period of time, it will wind down as they don't have the satisfaction of anyone answering or falling for their scheme.

I try to stay off their radar by keeping to a minimum the number of places that have my information, but sometimes it's just required that you provide a phone number. We have to weigh the value of what we'll get -- perhaps it's the grocery store loyalty card that requires a phone number to sign up, or even for voter registration -- versus the potential abuse of our phone number when the scammers get it.

I keep a spare email address for the same reason. If forced to give one out, and not really trusting what will be done with it, I give the "trash" address and once a month go through and delete what generally turns out to be 95% spam email.

Then there are the passwords for the things we need to do online. We're advised to have "strong" passwords, but what does that really mean? It means using all the types of keys on the keyboard: upper and lower case letters, symbols and numbers. Don't go with something that's too easy for a thief to figure out, like the name of your former high school.

We can outwit the thieves who want our money and peace of mind. It just takes a little work.

DOCTOR USES DICTATION MACHINE DURING PATIENT'S MEDICAL EXAM

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have recently begun seeing a new physician who dictates into a recorder during my entire exam. I find this very off-putting and don't know what to do. Here is an example:

Doctor: What brings you in today? Me: I have a sore throat.

Doctor speaks into the recorder: Patient presents a complaint of a sore throat today.

Doctor: When did it start? Me: Thursday. Doctor speaks into the recorder: Patient states that it began Thursday.

This back and forth into the recorder continues for the entire visit. I don't feel as if I can really have a discussion about a concern with him when he continues to interrupt me to dictate. I feel as if I am bothering him while he is working if I want to add a detail or expound on what I said. I understand physicians are under pressure to complete their charting, and their schedules are very full, but I also believe that building a rapport is important for the doctor-patient relationship. This is not possible when I am stopped every few sentences so he can dictate. There is no head physician or practice manager to discuss this with. Do I bring it up directly with him or say nothing? Or should I find a new physician? -- N.F.H. ANSWER: I would also feel frustrated if my doctor did this to me. It does make it seem like writing the note is more important than listening to the patient. Even the doctor who stays behind a computer screen to make notes may not seem present in the exam room, and I certainly have been guilty of this on occasion. I will say that newer technology may help solve this problem. When I saw my own doctor last month, I noticed that he placed his phone down, but I didn't pay any more attention until he showed me (after the visit) what the "AI scribe" wrote as a chart note without him doing anything. I was impressed with the quality and thoroughness of the note that was seemingly written without him having to change his usual questions. (I did agree to the use of this technology before the office visit.) I have also had human scribes in the room when I've seen a doctor (dermatology in particular), and while it's easier to connect with the doctor who is paying attention to me instead of their charting, having another human in the room does feel less private. What your doctor does seems clunky and, in some ways, the worst of both worlds. It won't be easy to bring it up with him directly, but this is the only alternative to finding a new doctor. Even if you do find a new doctor, your original doctor should know that his using a dictation machine is costing him patients.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I read that getting the chicken pox vaccine leads to a higher risk of shingles later in life compared to getting the chicken pox illness. Is this true? -- T.S.E. ANSWER: This is completely false. Large studies have shown that vaccinated children have a 79% lower incidence of shingles compared to unvaccinated children. Put in another way from a separate study, the risk of developing shingles was 2.3 times higher among children who got chicken pox compared to those who got the vaccine. Getting vaccinated as an adult over 50 for shingles, whether you had the vaccine or chicken pox, is the best way to prevent shingles, which is painful, can lead to severe complications, and can even increase the risk of stroke.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. (c) 2025 North America Synd., Inc. All Rights Reserved

Strange BUT TRUE

By
Lucie Winbourne

- * According to legend, and the official story from Nathan's, four immigrants held the first hot dog eating contest at Nathan's Famous stand on Coney Island on July 4, 1916, to prove who was the most patriotic.
- * Koala bears have no sweat glands, so they cool themselves by licking their arms and stretching out as they rest in trees.
- * Asbestos used to be a common sight on film sets. The carcinogenic mineral was a common substitute for snowflakes in film-making until shortly after World War II.
- * When it comes to wine, and Sauvignon Blanc in particular, a cat pee-like aroma is often indicative of a high-quality vintage.
- * Inazawa Grand Bowl bowling center in Japan is the world's largest bowling alley, with 116 lanes.
- * Mars' dust storms, the planet's defining weather feature, are the largest in the solar system and can last for months.
- * Despite producing 95% of the world's bourbon supply, Kentucky's official drink is milk.
- * A museum in Helsinki, Finland, has been infested with Loxosceles laeta, venomous recluse spiders, that originally came from South America. The spiders are extremely resistant to attempts to kill them, and no one knows who imported them.
- * The average person can only hear sounds up to 20 kHz, but a violin string can vibrate at frequencies of up to 100 kHz.
- * A male cheetah can cause a female cheetah to ovulate by barking at her.
- * No matter how hot your summer day feels, you won't actually be able to cook an egg on a sidewalk. That's because you'd need a temperature of at least 158 F, and the highest recorded only reached 131 F. Besides that, concrete isn't a good heat conductor.
